Enkwan Des Alesh/Enqua Hagoseki/Congratulations on your engagement! We are thrilled to be a part of your wedding planning process. As you can see it is a new year and new look! Here at Habeshabrides we thrive to produce reliable resources and inspiration that will make your Habesha wedding planning process enjoyable. That's why we have curated the best vendors to create our annual lookbook!

Taking you through all the seasons we highlight the latest trends in western bridal fashion as well as cultural attire for the traditional events. Gone are the days of only seeing inspiration for the western wedding. We are in the season of upholding our cultural roots and staying true to our multifaceted influences in the diaspora. Be proud of the fact that you have decided to take the first step in maintaining your cultural blessings by going through this right of passage of planning a Habesha wedding!

We hope that you find this edition to be helpful and that you gain ideas. Always remember that at the end of the day what matters is the the person that you will be spending the rest of your life with.

Enjoy this season in your life and cherish this time!

A full-page photograph of a smiling couple in royal wedding attire. The woman on the left wears a red velvet headband with gold embroidery and a red cape over a white dress with a green sash. The man on the right wears a similar red velvet headband and a red cape over a white shirt and a green and gold patterned vest. They are standing in front of a large, ornate mirror. In the foreground, there are glassware and candles on a table.
